

It was May, 2007 when a Big storm came to my town. My Bus Driver, Sharon Scott, was driving us home when the sky turned dark gray with swirling colors.

My friend Connor said: "when the sky looks weird like this, you should run to your basement."

The trees started swaying and after three stops, Sharon told everyone to close the windows.

Just as we got near Connor's stop we turned a corner and there was a GIANT tree on top of a car!

Sharon turned the bus around and drove us safely back to school.

The End
